

Sudhir Chadaga

Chief Strategy Officer, Lenovo Mobile Business Group

Sudhir is Chief Strategy Officer of Lenovo's Mobile Business Group (MBG) and oversees MBG's ThinkShield for Mobile segment. In his role, Sudhir is responsible for driving strategic topics and initiatives for MBG, including annual and long-term strategic planning and growth strategies. As leader of the ThinkShield for Mobile segment, Sudhir and his team oversee initiatives that address key requirements from B2B customers, including device security and manageability.

Sudhir joined Lenovo in 2012 as part of the group's Corporate Strategy team, where he drove Lenovo's global growth strategy including Lenovo's acquisition of Motorola Mobility and IBM's System X division. Prior to joining Lenovo, Sudhir held various positions at General Motors, Deutsche Bank, and Hewlett-Packard.

He holds an MBA from Chicago Booth and bachelor's in computer science from National Institute of Technology Karnataka (India)